Help, ik heb een vriendje Oct 29 2020 Ruby kan het bijna niet geloven: ze heeft een vriend! Eentje die uit zichzelf langskomt, haar briefjes en emails schrijft en zelfs croissants voor haar bakt. En hij kan nog fantastisch zoenen ook. Ruby heeft het gevoel dat ze in een romantische film is beland. Maar welke film duurt eeuwig? In de zomer gaat Ruby's vriend Noel op vakantie naar zijn broer in New York. Ruby en Noel hebben dagelijks contact, maar plotseling laat hij niets meer van zich horen. Zelfs niet op haar zeventiende verjaardag! Wanneer hij terugkomt, doet Noel alsof er niets aan de hand is. Ruby begrijpt er niks van: is hij nu wel of niet haar vriend? Als de onweerstaanbare broer van haar vriendin Nora vraagt of ze mee gaat waterskiën, is de verleiding dan ook erg groot. Voor ze het weet, heeft Ruby ja gezegd en haar liefdesleven in een puinhoop veranderd. Is ze Noel nu voorgoed kwijt? En wat is er in New York gebeurd?

Negro Students Locked Out of Public Schools for Five Years, September 1959-September 1964 Apr 15 2022

Negro students, as they were called in the era of interest, were locked out of the Prince Edward County, Virginia, public schools from September 1959 - September 1964. A private school system for the sons and daughters of the oppressor opened in September 1959. This premiere publication is the largest collection of accounts from individuals in the community of the oppressed that were locked out of the Prince Edward County public schools during the education crisis. The stories in this rare valued collection shared primarily by the oppressed only provide a mere glimpse of community and home life during those challenging, regrettable, and horrific years. Very captivating in this volume are the stories of individuals that were locked out of the Prince Edward County public schools and who in adult life devoted themselves to the teaching profession. Most of the school teachers in this volume taught in schools in Virginia. A small number taught in other States. The most intriguing element among the teachers is comprised of individuals that were locked out of the Prince Edward County public schools, but enjoyed a rewarding career as teachers in the same public school system that denied them an education for five consecutive years. There are in this publication the painful and agonizing reflections of persons who shared about never coming close to achieving their childhood dreams and ambitions, which required an education. Many students because of the interruption of their education during the critical foundational formative learning years were unable to sufficiently recover and master the proficiency required to progress and develop intellectually at a rate that permitted them to pursue lofty goals in life.

Performance-Based Pay for Educators Sep 27 2020

This book provides an in-depth analysis of a performance-based pay initiative and crystalizes the design issues and implementation challenges that confounded efforts to translate this promising policy into practice. This story has much to say to academics and policymakers who are trying to figure out the combinations of incentives and the full range of resources required to establish incentive programs that promote an adequate supply and equitable distribution of capable and committed educators for our public schools. The book uncovers the conditions that appear to be necessary, if not fully sufficient, for performance-based initiatives to have a chance to realize their ambitious aims and the research that is required to guide policy development. In so doing, the authors consider the thorny question of whether performance-based pay systems for educators are worth the investment. Book Features: Examines the use of educator compensation reform as a tool to improve human capital in chronically low-performing schools. Analyzes how a theoretically promising incentive program actually plays out in schools. Documents policy implementation and its impacts through the experiences and voices of teachers and school administrators. Concludes with clear and actionable recommendations for policy and research.

2005 Annual Report on Our Call to Action Apr 27 2023
The "2005 Annual Report on Our Call to Action:

Pursuit of Excellence" details the school system's significant progress toward meeting the identified milestones within each of the system's four strategic goal areas. The overall trend data continue to provide strong evidence of the effectiveness of our strategies and initiatives detailed in "Our Call to Action: Pursuit of Excellence." The data also highlight areas requiring additional improvement to increase the performance of all students. Available baseline and trend data are presented for each data point. The baseline year of 2000 was established in alignment with the initial adoption of "Our Call to Action." When data are not available for data points in the 2000 baseline year, the baseline year is the first year in which the data are available. "Our Call to Action: Pursuit of Excellence" establishes the strategic course of the school system's overall operation, including the operating budget, and lays the foundation for an unprecedented effort to improve the instructional program in each school. The plan reflects an effective organization, implementation, and accountability process that was recognized earlier this year when Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS) won the United States Senate Productivity Award for Maryland. That achievement reflects a strategic planning focus and a comprehensive reform effort that began with the initial "Our Call to Action" in November 1999 and continues to be refined and strengthened each year. This strategic planning process guides staff throughout the school system in their work with schools, parents, and the community. Moreover, the strategic plan addresses the requirements of the state of Maryland Bridge to Excellence in Public Schools Act and the achievement goals of the federal "No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB)." The 2005 annual report provides a comprehensive accounting of the school system's performance on the established milestones and data points of the strategic plan. The plan's four goals--ensure success for every student, provide an effective instructional program, strengthen productive partnerships for education, and create a positive work environment in a self-renewing organization--align with the Board of Education's four core governance policies and provide a framework for monitoring the progress of ongoing reform and improvement efforts. Within each goal, the established milestones and data points are the rubric for monitoring performance.
